OBJECTIVE

I am a full stack, angular, flutter, react, laravel developer with ample experience and I have worked extensively on projects based on the same. I am currently associated with Gyrix Technolabs which is a web and mobile app development firm out of Indore.

I take pride in my ability of shaping clients’ dreams into reality by developing premier products which are tailor fit to their needs. I have successfully developed long-term relationships with almost all of my clients and all of them would say nothing but good things about me. The reason behind the creation of these relationships is that not only do I like going the extra mile for my clients, I love doing so and it shows in the work that I do. I can provide great client satisfaction by providing right plans along with hard work, persistence, technical expertise, right communication and the functional knowledge to realise said plans.
